Are you between jobs and/or exploring a new career path? Are you a current undergraduate student ready to launch your career? Or do you have job openings or an internship you would like to post? Career Services, in collaboration with the CU-Boulder Alumni Association, offers a multitude of alumni services specifically for Buffs, including a free robust job database, career counseling and networking events. Undergraduate students and alumni can use these services to tap into professional networks, explore job opportunities and connect with the alumni community.

If you're searching for a job or considering a career change, browse our job openings and career resources. If you're an employer, bring Buffs on board with your company by posting job openings and internships.

Ask a Buff

Ask a Buff is offered within the Forever Buffs Network and is where Buffs share their professional advice with alums and students seeking guidance in their jobs, career paths, relocation plans and graduate school decisions. Make your next career step with the benefit of their experience. Or join the pool of Buff professionals and help other CU alums by becoming an Ask a Buff.

The focus of Ask A Buff is information and advice sharing. Undergraduate students and alums can seek information on:

- Their profession
- Their career path
- The culture of their workplace
- Company departments and individuals to send job inquiries to
- The qualifications their employer seeks
- Information about the city or town where they live
- Any relevant graduate school programs

Post your résumé, so Buffs can find you for networking or job opportunities. The information you enter in the résumé posting form will be searchable in the résumé databank. Note: You can enhance your personal profile in the My Profile section, but the résumé you upload won't be searchable in the résumé databank. Also consider posting your résumé with Career Services where it will be part of a résumé referral process.
